There was a brilliant wedding in the old church at Asheville on New Year's day—the happy father giving away the beautiful bride. A merry family party, including Rufus and Hetty Miller, gathered around the dinner-table in the old Sedley mansion house. When Rufus turned his plate, he found concealed beneath it a letter, with the inscription, "A New Year's Present." Upon opening it, he found it to be the deed of a large farm just out of the village, and a check upon the bank for a thousand dollars. Tears of gratitude dimmed his eyes; for now after a life of hardship and toil, they opened before them the cheering prospect of a green old age. Hetty always maintained that her "New Year's present" received so many years ago, was the best she could possibly have had, as it had been a comfort and blessing to them through years of adversity, and proved the source of their present prosperity.

The Daily News

NEWPORT,
144 Thames Street.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 14, 1857.

E. TOURNE, Esq., is hereby authorized to transact for us any business connected with the News and Journal office, of this city.

A favorable allusion was recently made by a correspondent to the Musical Institute of this city. Since then we have received gratifying information respecting its origin, progress and purposes. The Institute was permanently organized on the 11th of Nov. 1856, by a number of Ladies and Gentlemen, convened at the State House for that purpose. The officers for the current year, are—

T. COGGESHALL, President.
A. FRENCH, Sec'y.
WM. D. SOUTHWICK, Treasurer.
EERO TORRE, Conductor.
GEO. H. WILSON, Finance Committee.
D. H. HOLLOWAY, Do.
A. J. WARD, Do.
HENRY EASTON, Librarian.

Capital selections for the places. It requires persons of energy and perseverance to originate and carry forward such an enterprise. No fears need be entertained of flagging in this case. Already about 100 names—including a few honorary ones—have been placed upon the books of the Institute as evidence of membership.

The character of the establishment may be inferred from the fact, that all the Pastors of the city are connected with it; as well as from the complimentary letters received from some of them, in acknowledgment of their election.

We understand that they are chiefly occupied in their rehearsals at present, with the compositions of that Prince of Musicians, W. Z. MOZART.

We cannot help regarding this Institute and every other musical association in our midst, as among the many very excellent things in Newport, and therefore, as deserving the countenance and earnest support of every citizen.

"The Poor We Have Always With You."

When we look around and see the charitable and benevolent institutions springing up all over the country, for the improvement and relief of the suffering, the impoverished and the victims of all grades and colors, it is an evidence not to be mistaken, that the heart of man is susceptible of kindly feelings toward his fellow-men, notwithstanding his many shortcomings; and as we are having an unusually severe turn of winter so early in the season, it behooves those who are blessed with an abundance of the good things of this world, to look around and see what is called for at their hands, and to put the question home. "What have we, that we have not received, and what have we received that we are not accountable for?"

"Whenever I take my walk abroad,
How many poor I see,
What shall I render to my God,
For all his gifts to me.
How many children in the street,
Half naked and half dead,
While I am clothed from head to foot,
And sheltered from the cold."

The ancient and honorable Doreas Society is still at its post of duty, and no doubt ready and willing to dispense the bounty of those who may put into their hands either money, cast off clothing, or anything that may tend to the comfort of the suffering, and destitute; and the Donors may depend upon a judicious application of their bounty. It is no doubt, too true, that a great portion of the poverty and suffering in the world are a consequence of idleness and want of economy; and if it were possible to instill into the minds of all the importance of studying and practicing industry and economy, very few would need the assistance of their friends, or the public.

Protection Co. No. 5, Capt. Newton, intend having a sleigh ride in the boat sleigh, with twenty horses, this evening.

Our contributors omitted to say for us yesterday, that Thalberg is to perform the "Requiem," in Boston next Sabbath evening, in connection with the Handel and Haydn Society. It will doubtless be a soul-stirring occasion.

The non-arrival, yesterday morning, of the Steamer of Maine from New York was owing to the breaking of her piston rod off Stratford. Her passengers were taken off and she was towed into Bridgeport harbor by the steamer Worcester.

The new house of worship of the United Congregational Church will be dedicated on Thursday, January 15, 1857, at 10 1-2 A. M. Seats free.

MONEY.
Bad money! bad world! Beware, I say,
And beware, I say again!
For money makes false money every day,
And money makes false men.

Gold.
Gold! father of falsehood,
And offspring of care!
To have thee brings danger—
To want thee, despair!

The Miser's Money.
When a miser dies, his treasure
Then begins to live,
To be the child's godfather, pleasure
To many a one would give.

Laziness.
He is a man who, (one might say) is so
Abominably lazy, that although
Laid his month a roasted pigeon flew,
He'd grumble, were it not for envy's too.
[From the German.]

[The last of these epigrams reminds one of the poet Thompson, who wrote so eloquently of morning and yet (they say) never got up early enough to see the sun rise. It is related of him that he would lie on his back and bite the peaches off the low boughs of the trees, being too lazy to reach out his hand after them.]

We judge a community by its representatives in the assemblies of the law making power, a town or city by its representatives in the General Assembly, a Congressional District by its representative in Congress, and a State, by its United States Senators. We expect the representative to reflect the moral worth and intelligence of the constituents. Though this rule is nearly universally applied and is exceedingly reasonable, it is somewhat unjust; for the representative may be put in nomination by the controlling influence in a primary meeting and be voted for by a constituency, not as the choice of that constituency, but as the representative of its principles.

With Benjamin Hazard at the head of a delegation composed of such men as Henry Bull, Asher Robbins, and Richard K. Randolph, Newport was considered the first town in the State; and to South Kingston with Elisha R. Potter in its delegation, there was attached an importance to which it has not approached since his decease; and Providence with such representatives as it sent to the General Assembly when it had but four, was of much more importance in the legislation of the State, than it has been at sometimes since with twelve automations in its seats.

When James Burrill and William Hunter represented Rhode Island in the United States Senate, and when Tristram Burgess and Dutee J. Pearce, represented us in the House, Rhode Island stood high before the country; and in Washington, a Rhode Islander would feel proud of his State and its Representative.

We talk flippantly of the corruptions of Congress and of the shortcomings of legislators and other official personages, we sometimes say that they are drunken, gamblers, improvident or that they have other moral delinquencies. But if we send to Congress or elect to office men who are drunkards, or gamblers, or who have proved themselves incapable of managing their own affairs, do we expect that they will improve when called into public employment? and if so, in what way for the better or worse? If we elect such persons, knowing what they are, or without taking proper measures to ascertain, we ought not to blame them but rather to blame ourselves.

A Senator in Congress may be base enough to buy a seat, but he cannot obtain it that way unless the seat is to be sold; and if a man, bankrupt in all the many virtues, aspires to an office he cannot get it by importunity alone unless the constituents yield to importunity—upon every election there is a high responsibility. The character of a State should be very precious in the eyes of every citizen. Every elector should remember that his elective franchise is a high trust which has been committed to him to be used only for the benefit of the State; and that, when he uses it for other purposes, he commits a fraud upon the State, and wrongs a whole people. He should exercise this trust, not according to his interest, his impulses, his purposes or his prejudices, not to reward friends or to punish enemies, but according to the convictions of his conscience and his judgment, and for the interest and honor of the State.

Our citizens were startled by the cry of fire yesterday about noon. The alarm was occasioned by a fire in a stable in the rear of the house of Mrs. Breese on Thames street. By the promptness of the fire companies the flames were arrested without much damage to the property.

Engine Companies No. 1 and 7 had a grand time of it Monday night, judging from the manner in which they dashed through our prominent streets. We noticed two four-horse teams, each well supplied with music and banners, and all on board evidently in good cheer. The way their merry shouts were responded to from the sidewalks, was not slow. From their promptness the next day at the fire, we conclude they did themselves no harm; and certainly none was done any one else. A little recreation is good for one. Take it gentlemen, while you can.

COURT OF JUSTICES, Tuesday, Jan. 13.—State vs. John Sanders. Case continued on account of inability of his wife to attend Court.

State vs. James Thompson for assaulting the city Watch. Case not reached.

State vs. Wm. Rooney for assaulting the Watch. Probably guilty. Bound over to the March term of the Supreme Court.

State vs. Jeremiah Sullivan for similar offence, with similar legal result.

The question of the validity of Harlan's election to the Senate of the United States, though of no importance to any political party, is of very great importance to the country. The law of his State requires that Senators shall be elected in a convention of the two Houses of the General Assembly. The two Houses met in convention, and adjourned to meet again the next day. The Democratic party finding that they were in the minority in that convention, and knowing that they had the majority of the Senate, their Senators withdrew from the convention with the view of defeating an election. The majority of the convention proceeded and elected Harlan Senator—and now it is said, that he is illegally elected because a majority of the Senate were not present at the time of his election, and that the factious opposition of the majority of the Senate ought to defeat the election.

This is going one step further than Gov. Allen's Senate went in 1852, for they refused to join in grand convention at all. It is the duty of Legislatures to elect Senators. This obligation is enforced only by the oath of office of the members; and if they violate this we know of no remedy but with the people. But if a majority of one branch of a Legislature refuse to elect Senators in one State, they may do it in every State and thus put an end to the Senate, and consequently, to the government.

But this case of Harlan, presents a different question. It is this, whether after the two Houses of the General Assembly become blended into one for a particular purpose, the majority of one of the Houses by refusing, incapacitates the majority of the convention from proceeding with its business. It would seem that when Senators and Representatives enter into grand convention, they assume a different relation to that convention from the one to which they belong to the respective Houses to which they belonged. They were not then together as Representatives and Senators, but as members of the grand committee of the two Houses. The distinction between Senators and Representatives was merged into the new relation for the time being, and as long as a quorum of the convention was present they might transact the business for which they convened.

U. S. SENATE.—The Senate voted on Monday not to admit Harlan to his seat, says 26.

The House has done nothing important since our last notice of its proceedings.

In the absence of news, we do not think we could do our readers a greater service than to lay before them extracts from Bayard Taylor's letter to the New York Tribune, dated Dec. 10, 1856, and prefaced, "An hour with H. W. H.":

"I followed the advice of some German friends, and made use of no mediatory influence, but simply dispatched a note to him, stating my name and object, and asking for an interview. Three days afterward I received through the city post a reply in his own hand, stating that, although he was suffering from a cold which had followed his removal from Potsdam to the capital, he would willingly receive me, and appointed 1 o'clock to-day for the visit. I was punctual to the minute, and reached his residence in the Oranienburger-strasse, as the clock struck. While in Berlin, he lives with his servant, Seifert, whose name only I found on the door. It was a plain two-story house, with a garden in front, and inhabited, like most of the houses in German cities, by two or three families. The bell-wire over Seifert's name came from the second story. I pulled; the heavy door opened of itself, and I mounted the steps until I reached a second bell-pull, over a plate inscribed, 'Alexander von Humboldt.'"

As I looked at the majestic old man, the line of Tennyson, describing Wellington, came into my mind: "Oh, good gray head, which all men know." The first impression made by Humboldt's face is that of a broad and genial humanity. His massive brow, heavy with the graying of wisdom of nearly a century, bends forward and overhangs his breast, like a ripe ear of corn, but as you look below it, a pair of clear blue eyes, almost as bright and steady as a child's, meet your own. In those eyes you read that trust in man, that immortal youth of the heart, which make the snows of eighty-seven winters lie so lightly upon his head. You trust him utterly at the first glance, and you feel that he will trust you, if you are worthy of it. I had approached him with a natural feeling of reverence, but in five minutes I found that I loved him; and could talk with him as freely as with a friend of my own age. His nose, mouth and chin have the heavy Teutonic character, whose genuine type always expresses an honest simplicity and directness.

He began by referring to my Winter journey into Lapland. "Why do you choose the Winter?" he asked: "Your experience will be very interesting, it is true, but will you not suffer from severe cold?" "That remains to be seen," I answered. "I have tried all climates except the Arctic, without the least injury. The last two years of my travels were spent in tropical countries, and now I wish to have the strongest possible contrast." "That is quite natural," he remarked, "and I can understand how your object in travel must lead you to seek such contrast; but you must possess a remarkable healthy organization." "You doubtless know, from your own experience," I said, "that nothing preserves a man's vitality like travel." "Very true," he answered, "if it does not kill at the outset. For my part, I keep my health everywhere, like yourself. During five years in South America and the West Indies, I passed through the midst of black vomit and yellow fever untouched."

After showing me some of Humboldt's water-color drawings, he returned to his seat and began to converse about American affairs. He spoke with great admiration of Col. Fremont, whose defeat he proudly regretted. "But it is at least a most cheering sign," he said, "and an omen of good for your country, that more than half a million of men support their votes a man of Fremont's character and achievements." With regard to Luchana, he said: "I had occasion to speak of his Outland Manifesto not long since in a letter which has been published, and I could not characterize its spirit by any other term than 'savage.' He also spoke of our authors, and inquired particularly after Washington Irving, whom he had once seen. I told him I had the fortune to know Mr. Irving, and had seen him not long before leaving New-York. 'He must be at least fifty years old,' said Humboldt. 'He is seventy,' I answered, 'but as young as ever.' Ah!" said he, "I have lived so long that I have almost lost the consciousness of time. I belong to the age of Jefferson and Gallatin, and I heard of Washington's death while he was in South America."

FLORING A WITCH TO DEATH.—We find the following very singular story in the Brownsville (Texas) Flag. The transaction is said to have occurred about a month ago:—

"It seems that a young lady of Matamoros was taken sick, and an old lady in the neighborhood, reported to have some skill in the virtue of herbs, was solicited to visit and administer to the patient. From some cause or other the old lady failed to attend, and suspicious reports were circulated that the old lady had bewitched the young one. The authorities were petitioned to compel the attendance of the old one. Officers were sent to take her before her supposed victim, and these miserably ignorant wretches reported that they on several occasions repaired to her domicile and could not find her at home, but found instead a suspicious looking black cat. After several efforts, however, they found the old woman at home instead of her cat, and she was taken to the presence of the invalid. But her herbs failing to restore the sick to health, and the mulattoes black cat persisting in following its owner, and being by the neighbors found in the room of the invalid instead of her mistress, fixed the opinion fast in the minds of these ignorant people that the old woman and the black cat were one and the same person; that she, being a witch, could take the form of the cat and assume her own shape at will—that the invalid was a victim to her diabolical art. With these convictions, it is said, they sought out the unfortunate old creature, and actually tied her up, and with thoughts cruelly directed her to death as a witch."

LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Asia arrived at New York on the 12th inst. The sum of the news by this arrival is that the Conference at Paris has not yet opened; the quarrel between Prussia and Switzerland remains as it was; France and England are declared to be harmonious; Prussia continues to arm herself against her enemy; negotiations are broken off between the British and Russian Ministry; and that negotiations between Persia and England are somewhat successful.

Hugh Miller, the Geologist, was found shot dead in his own room.

FELT HATS.—The editor of The Central Presbyterian, in speaking of the felt hats, discourses in the following style of good sense:

"Indeed, this is the only sensible hat now worn. Instead of the shiny, hard and stiff fur or silk hat, so lately universal—a perpetual annoyance to the owner; in his way in every conveyance, and in every crowd; never protecting him from sun or rain, but keeping him anxiously trying to protect it; very much in the shape, and about as pleasant to the head as a section of stovepipe or mud; or always getting blown off, or mangled, or weather-stained—instead of all this, we now have the broad-brimmed, flexible-bodied, easy-fitting hat, without fur on it or stiffening in it, never hindering the brow or causing headache; never injured by rough handling; always in shape, if shape it might be called, which shape has none; always shading the face from sun, and sheltering it from storm; and last, though not least, the prettiest hat, if beauty is associated with utility and the fitness of things. This is the hat which constitutes one of the most-to-be-lauded inventions of the present day—one which should universally supplant its absurd predecessor; and be worn by all classes, clergymen included."

Spend the day well, and thou wilt rejoice at night.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

From India.
Extract of a letter received from Rev. B. C. Taylor, November 18th, 1853.—MESSRS. P. DAVIS & SON.—Dear Sir—The Karens have no more confidence in their ancestors. They desire rational remedies for the sick. By various means, principally through the agency of the Rev. D. L. Brayton, these Karens people have become acquainted with your medicine, and their demand for it is to me very surprising.

I have now by me orders for more fifty bottles; but I have not got one bottle left, therefore I wish you to send me a quantity, I could dispose of at least one hundred bottles this year. Send it, and I will pay you through the Treasurer of the Missionary Union. I hope we shall be favored with some of it as soon as possible. There is no medicine which stands so high in the estimation of the Karens of these provinces as the Pain Killer, and I feel willing to testify that, as I entertain a very high opinion of its worth. B. C. Taylor.

Calcutta, November 4th, 1853.

MESSRS. PERRY DAVIS & SON.—Dear Sir, I am herewithly replying to the 4th ult., [dupli cate herewith] and it is necessary to address you again, as my most sanguine expectation have been more than realized. The call for your valuable medicine is increasing so very rapidly that I fear I shall soon be unable to keep pace with it, as I have only about one hundred bottles of the supply per Union. I have, however, by direct opportunity offering immediately after, you will kindly despatch another batch as ordered in my letter of June last. I hope, however, I will not be entirely out before your last despatch reaches me, of which, however, I have not yet heard from you. I remain, dear sir, yours sincerely, J. I. CARNAU. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

Defiance, N. H., Dec. 11, 1856.
NEW YORK, Nov. 4, 1856.
DEAR SIR:—The Defiance Safe, No. 5,778, purchased from you about eighteen months since, was in my house at Stratford, Conn., when the first fire occurred there, on the night of 6th of June last. The safe, after being exposed to an intense heat for many hours, was recovered on the 10th of June. Not having the necessary tools at hand to open it, the same has stood just as when recovered, until shipped to your address, Nov. 1st. When opened at your store this morning, I was greatly surprised, as were also others present, to find the contents, consisting of valuable silver plate, &c., in as perfect order as when placed therein. It is with pleasure I add my testimony to the merits of the Safes of your manufacture. Yours, Respectfully,
DANIEL PARISH.

AWFUL CHEAP.
They are Agents for the sale of West Caston Marble Mantels and McGregor's Ventilating Parlor, Office and Hall Stoves, which have been in use for Ten Years, and with the recent improvements, for Economy, Purity of Air, and Ease in Management, have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any degree of heat required; and, unlike other authentic burners, ventilate the apartments quite thoroughly as a good fire or open Grate, producing a current of air at once moist, pure, and agreeable, and as NONE OF THE

WHICH COMES IN CONTACT WITH THE FIRE. Pot is used for RESPIRATION, the tendency to produce the headache, so much complained of by those using Stores and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The coal is not consumed, and no clinkers made, consequently coal is dispensed with. When the furnace is properly managed the fire may be continued throughout the season without going out. Those having the stores can speak for the Furnaces, as they are the same on a large scale.

Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save 25 per cent in fuel and expense. Sold by

A NEW REMEDY.—A German who resides in Mill Creek township, while recently suffering from a pulmonary attack, sent for a physician who resides on College Hill. In a short time the doctor called on him, prescribed two bottles of cod liver oil, and receiving his fee of $6, was told by the German, who disliked the size of the bill, that he need not come again. The German, who by the by, had not heard of the doctor's prescription very well, supposed he could get the oil and treat himself. The doctor saw no more of his patient for some time, but one day, riding past the residence of the German, he was pleased to see him out in the garden digging lustily. The case seemed such a proof of the virtues of cod liver oil that he stopped to make more particular inquiries about it.

"You seem to be getting very well, said he, addressing the German."

"Yaw, I ish well," respond the former sick man.

"You took as much oil as I told you?" queried the doctor.

"Oh yaw, I have used more as four gallons of de dog-liver oil."

"The what?" said the astonished doctor.

"De dog-liver oil dat you say I shall take. I have killed most every fat little cure I could catch, and de dog-liver oil have cure me. It is great medicine, dat dog-liver oil."

The doctor had nothing to say, but rode quickly away, and noted in his memorandum book that consumption might be readily cured with dog liver as cod-liver oil.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

Brimfield, Mass., 20th Dec., 1855.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of Cold, is your Cherry Pectoral. It is constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints.

A. H. MORTLEY, Esq., of Urmoy, N. Y., writes: "I have used your Cherry Pectoral myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner use your Cherry Pectoral than a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD, Miss., Feb. 7, 1855.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I will cheerfully certify that your Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and all diseases of the throat. We of our fraternity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.

HIRAM CONKLIN, M. D.

ANSON LEE, Esq., of Monticello, N. Y., writes, 30 Jan., 1856:

"I have a tedious influenza, which confined me in almost six weeks, took many medicines without relief; finally tried your Cherry Pectoral by the advice of my clergyman. The first dose relieved the pressure in my throat and lungs; and the second dose of the Cherry Pectoral cured me. Your medicine is the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, as the poor man's friend."

Asthma or Phthisis, and Bronchitis.

WATERMAN, N. Y., Feb. 4, 1856.

Sir: Your Cherry Pectoral is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last six years.

HENRY L. PAINE, Merchant.

A. A. HANNEY, Esq., of Anson, N. Y., writes, Sept. 4, 1855: "During my protracted illness I have found nothing equal to your Cherry Pectoral for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable."

We fight old volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in the effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach; but even to those the Cherry Pectoral affords relief and cure.

ANSON LEE, Esq., of Monticello, N. Y., March 6, 1856.

Dr. J. C. Ayer: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you that your Cherry Pectoral has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the agonizing symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily sinking until she was at the point of death. We were, for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We blessed her kindness, as we do your skill, for she recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.

Yours with gratitude and respect,

ORLANDO SHIPLEY, of SEELYVILLE, Ohio.

Unimpaired, do not despair till you have tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its effects are as rapid as the high merits of its virtues. — Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE science of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pills have virtuous effects, surpassing in power the ordinary medicine, and that they are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their purgative properties stimulate the vital activity of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also the most malignant and dangerous diseases that have afflicted the best of human kind. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the most best and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Care has been made which surpasses belief, that they are not substituted by men of such excited position and character as to forbid the suspicion of fraud. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their use and certificates of their cures, of the following gentlemen:

Centerville, Illinois. Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Hemorrhoids, Headache arising from a full stomach, Nervous Indigestion, Morbid function of the bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Ulcers and Catarrhs Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine, Scrophulous or Erysipelas. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout, and all kind of complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for Ayer's Pills, and take nothing else. No other can give you compare with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

BROWNELL'S PATENT VENTILATOR.

Patented, Sept. 16, 1855.

Herewith you are presented with a list of sizes with the price of each, annexed, of BROWNELL'S PATENT VENTILATOR for all purposes where ventilation and a strong draft are required, and are perfectly adapted for BATH ROOMS, PUBLIC BUILDINGS, SMOKEY CHIMNEYS, and CANNON and CANNON PIPES.

The advantage proposed by this ventilator over all others is, it gives a uniform draft to a chimney, and at the same time excludes water thus doing away with two great evils—a back draft and drippings down the chimney. The arrangement of the ventilator is very simple; it can be easily adjusted to any use for which it may be required, and it is not liable to get out of order.

The above prices include the top, with one foot of pipe of Galvanized Iron. The base, when finished, will be charged at the rate of twenty-five cts. per lb. A liberal discount will be made to the trade.

GREAT AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.

FOR SECURING PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE.

WASHINGTON.

R. H. EDDY, No. 76 Street, opposite KILBY ST., BOSTON.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for patents, superior to those offered by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through its inventors have advantages for securing patents, unsurpassed by any other Agency, and which can be obtained at a very low rate. The testimonials below give proof that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past has enabled him to acquire a valuable collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Creations, Specifications, Assignments, and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and equitable matters respecting inventions, and infringements of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, secured through agents of the highest respectability.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. A. Eddy, Esq., of Boston did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of procuring Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

From the present Commissioner.

August 17th, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. J. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
